DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in response to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

I. Claims 1-4 drawn to a process making lipids containing arachidonic acid using mutants of various genera of microorganisms.

II. Claims 5-10 drawn to a process making lipids containing dihomogamma-linolenic acid using mutants of various genera of microorganisms

III. Claims 11, 12 and 17-22 drawn to a microbial lipid containing arachidonic acid,

IV. Claims 13-16 drawn to a microorganism belonging the various genera of fungi.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

First, the inventions of groups I and II, respectively III and IV do not match a permitted category as PCT Rule 13.2 does not provide for multiple methods or products in one category. Two distinct processes are being claimed in groups I and II, a process for the production of arachidonic and a process of making dihomogamma-linolenic acid resulting in the production of distinct products. Two chemically distinct products are claimed in groups III and IV having distinct properties, i.e., a lipid containing arachidonic acid and a microorganism.

No common inventive concept is shared among groups I, II, III and IV since the microorganism as claimed is not required to obtain the products as claimed. An arachidonic containing lipid as claimed can be obtained by culturing a strain of wild type strain of a microorganisms followed by enrichment of arachidonic acid produced as adequately demonstrated by Shimada et al., for example (See, e.g., Abstract). In addition, a technical relationship is lacking among the claimed inventions involving one or more special technical features because Kawashima et al. adequately demonstrates the cultivation of members of the recited genera having a defective desaturase at temperatures lower than the optimum growth. (See, e.g., Example 2).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

No claim is allowed.
